

WE NOMINATE

Kenneth Edwin Michael, one of New Jersey's able educator-administrators, who this week — following seven years of exemplary service — is relinquishing his responsibilities as Principal of Princeton High School. At a time when secondary school systems everywhere must be concerned with retaining able men and women capable of reaching out to promising high school youngsters, this 44-year old native of Illinois — still deeply enthusiastic about Princeton High School — has concluded that "I need a change" and is embarking upon a year as an overseer of a pioneering program concerned with developing urgently-needed public school teachers.

The contributions to the Princeton Regional School System of a beloved, highly respected and popular teacher can hardly be minimized. One observer of the Princeton scene, who at times is extremely critical of Princeton's public schools, put it this way: "Michael insisted that a kid must profit educationally by anything that the High School might undertake; that the faculty and administration must understand "things as they really are in the school;" and, finally, "we must be realists, and strive, in anything we might project, to strengthen and supplement any vocational, or non-college programs of study."

In recent years Michael, like educators on all levels, has been harassed with perturbing racial problems that on occasion threaten to overwhelm the nation's schools. Recently a Princeton High School black student accused Michael verbally: "I have to hate you because you're white." Michael's reply, one he didn't want quoted at the time because of possible misunderstandings, ran like this: "Okay, you hate me because you see I am white; close your eyes — do you hate me now?" Moments later, the kid said "No."

This summer Michael, a native of Highland, Illinois, who received his B.S. degree from Eastern Illinois University in 1918, and the M.A. from Washington University, St. Louis, in 1951, will be associated with the Princeton Intern Teacher Program. This distinctive program will enable some 35 college graduates, identified with 30 New Jersey public and independent secondary schools, to receive New Jersey public teaching certification after a summer of graduate study and a school year of on-the-job training and professional counseling.

Michael, a mathematics teacher and eminently successful basketball coach (19-1) in Winnebago High School, Winnebago, Ill., came to Princeton High School in 1962 following four years as principal of the Mount Pleasant High School, Wilmington, Del. In the year ahead, as a part-time Esso Foundation Fellow, he will also be enrolled as a Mid-Career Fellow in the graduate program of the University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, a program normally open to Federal Government officials to enhance their professional competence in fields of governmental operation and policy.

For providing in the High School "a humanizing and stabilizing influence;" for generating in this community a "true and warm outpouring of support, affection and respect;" for being "really liked" by those whom he has taught and guided; he is TOWN TOPICS nominee as

WHO'S PRINCIPAL?

No Decision Yet. Princeton's rumor-mongers have been grinding out the same rumor for about two weeks — that Raymond F. Male is going to be the new principal of Princeton High.

People who mount these rumors will even tell you precisely how the school board voted last night. The fact that the board didn't even meet last night — whatever night "last" may have been — doesn't make any difference. If you know, you KNOW.

The facts: Mr. Male is one of "three to five" candidates who have made it to the finals, according to Superintendent Philip E. McPherson. Dr. McPherson says a decision on who the new principal will be may not be announced, or even ready, for several days.

Mr. Male does not meet state requirements for the administrative certification that a high school principal must have. Neither do some of the other candidates for the high school job, Dr. McPherson adds.

These requirements are a New Jersey teachers certificate, a master's degree (the kind of master's degree is not specified); 21 credit hours in administrative courses. Mr. Male does hold a master's degree (in politics, from Princeton University) but he lacks the other qualifications.

Exceptions are made by the state, Dr. McPherson says, and there is a Certification Appeals Committee which makes the decision.

If "Dogwood Hill" as a buffer, wouldn't be right to make our Mr. Light's fellow investors in the property are Robert Guterman, Mrs. Carl Brauer, Ralph Heyman, John Winterbottom, Heinz Heinemann and J. Mr. Light was considering six to eight candidates, Dr. McPherson has said. "It's getting tighter all the time," he said this week, "and it's probably closer to three than to five."

held next Thursday, June 19, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Princeton High School. The decision on whether to continue the program next year will be made by the board at its regular meeting on Tuesday, June 24.

NINE ARE HONORED

By Princeton University. Nine honorary degrees were conferred Tuesday by Princeton University. James F. Oates Jr., chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, and University Orator presented the candidates to President Robert F. Goheen who conferred the degrees in the following order:

Donald F. Harnig, doctor of science, formerly director, U.S. Office of Science and Technology; scientific adviser to three Presidents of the United States. His citation read in part: "The manifold roles of research, teaching, government, and business are united in the public career of this distinguished physical chemist and former Princeton Department Chairman, who is in the hands of the husband of a gifted scientist, father of homemakers extraordinary, and skillful savor of unquenchable enthusiasm."

Russell W. Baker, doctor of humane letters, author and columnist, "The New York Times." Citation:

"The primary test of the sanity of a civilization is its ability to laugh at itself; three times a week this wry observer of the follies of mankind here restore us to a wholesome awareness of our own absurdities. His humor, like all good comic writing, springs from deep moral awareness. Few major deflections from common sense or simple decency escape impalement on his pen; none escapes his discovery and scrutiny. His persuasive blend of amusement and outrage puts him in danger of becoming the very thing he so often takes to task, a revered American institution."

Robert C. Wood, Princeton Class of 1941, director of MIT-Harvard Joint Center for Urban Studies; formerly Undersecretary of Housing and Urban Development.

ment. Citation in part: "To his new duties in Cambridge he brings the wealth of years teaching and writing, together with long participation in government at all levels."

Leon H. Sullivan, doctor of divinity, pastor, Zion Baptist Church, Philadelphia; founder of the Opportunities Industrialization Center, that has spread into 80 American cities and is now developing in African nations. Citation in part:

"As the struggles of our troubled times this dynamic clergyman, West Virginian by birth and Philadelphia by adoption, has inspired his race in new fields of active achievement, both practical and spiritual. Converting rhetoric into action, he has shown the relevance of religion to the daily work of the people."

Erich von Kahler, doctor of letters, 81-year-old historian and philosopher; "above all, a humanist." Citation in part: "Historian and philosopher, above all humanist, he is one of the leaders of that brilliant procession of European thinkers who came to and enriched the intellectual life of this country at the time of the Second World War."

Charles E. Shain, Princeton class of 1936, doctor of laws, president of Connecticut College since 1962. Citation in part:

"In a time of painful tension for private colleges and universities, he has nourished the tradition of distinction at the institution of which he is head, supported by the gaiety and wit that once led him to say of education: 'After all, it's God's plan.'"

James E. Altes Jr., doctor of laws, U.S. District Court, Education and assistant secretary for Education. Citation in part:

"Now our ranking Federal educational official, he has heretofore been called the most powerful figure in American public education. Progressive, firm, and impatient of non-sense, he is a constant warrior against the monolithic resistance to change in public schooling, aware quite of the subtleties of educational systems and of the individuals who make them up."

Frank Thompson Jr., doctor of laws, U.S. Congressman, representing New Jersey's Fourth District since 1955. Citation in part:

"His ongoing campaign to restore vitality to moribund Congressional practices and to defuse empty rhetoric has been characterized by dedication that never degenerates into smug earnestness, by an irrepressible candor untainted by thoughtlessness, and by political practicality without parochialism."

Charles W. Yost, Princeton Class of 1928, doctor of laws, United States Ambassador to the United Nations. Citation in part:

"As this country's Ambassador to the United Nations, the organization with which he has been connected for many years, and as the first professional diplomat to hold this vital post, he is strengthened by the experience of more than three decades in the foreign service and by a wide reputation for expertise on the Middle East."

537,000 BREAKS RECORD

For 25-year Class. The Princeton University Class of 1914, returning for its 25th reunion last week, turned over a $37,000 gift to the annual giving program, the largest amount ever to be given by a single class in a single year.

On Saturday, a new "ivy stone" in the facade of Nassau Hall near the western entrance was dedicated to the Class of 1914 in honor of its gift. A small zinc box containing the class roster has been placed behind the plaque. Speakers at the dedication ceremony included President Robert F. Goheen, Anthony A. Bernabei of Fort Worth, Tex., class president, and the Rev. Harcourt E. Walker Jr., "44 of Charlottesville, Va."

Close to 300 members of the class returned to the campus class returned to the campus four day reunion program.

THE FETE IS HERE

Saturday, Rain or Shine. Months of planning and advance work by hundreds and hundreds of Princetonians and volunteers from all over will come to fruition Saturday as the Princeton Hospital Golden Galaxy Fete holds forth in a glorious one-day event. The action will get fete activities underway rain or shine at 9 a.m. on the grounds of Windsor Field, Washington Road. (See box this page for other starting times.)

Now in its 16th year of raising money for the hospital, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary, the fete promises a list of activities and attractions geared to every member of the family. Pony rides, the "pet-ten and feed 'em" pen of small animals, and many games will keep children busy in between trips to the cotton candy, fudge or sno-cone stand. The Rock Marathon tent with the annual contest to select the best rock group will be in full swing most of the day for teenagers, along with the midway. An expanded lane of shops, boutique and of course the day-long auction will be the center of adult interest. Parking is available on fields close to the entrance to the fete, and a mini-bus service will again run between Windsor Field and Palmer Square. Drivers will be post office employees, who contribute their services each year.

TEN GROUPS TO COMPETE

In Fete's Rock Marathon, Ten rock groups were chosen to compete at the Princeton Hospital Fete Rock Marathon '68 on Saturday, June 14 from auditions held last month.

The rock finalists are "Act 1," the Hun School; Notre Dame and Princeton High Schools; "Amber," Franklin and Manville High Schools; five semi-finalists from

TO ORDER NEW ENGINE

For Fire-fighting, A brand new fire engine — defined especially by Princeton's firemen as a piece of "aerial equipment" — may be snorting and ready to roll in two years. Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson assured a delegation of firemen at Council Tuesday night that the necessary ordinance to borrow the money would be introduced July 8 if specifications for the engine can be drawn up in time.

Legally, Council can't even order the engine from the manufacturer until the money is in hand, or at least ordinance. However, it takes two years for one of these Leavitts to be delivered, and by that time, Council hopes to have cash, and not borrowed gold.

The Township, incidentally, is paying what Mayor Patterson called the "lion's share" of the engine under the usual formula for sharing expenses.

Castoro and Company was given the contract to reconstruct Pine Street. They were the lowest of three bidders with $22,445.

Police schedules have been adjusted for summer, according to Police Commissioner Robert Hendry, so that more officers will be on duty from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. More people

Topics Of The Town

In a resolution at its May meeting, the board voted to ask the Planning Board to put the lots on the map as the site for some future school. The three owners object to this designation.

Hans K. Sander, Planning Board chairman, says the Board wants to know why the school board chose this three-lot package rather than two other sites in the Snowden area, including the Van Dyke-Wright Open Space property which already belongs to the Township.

The planners also question whether that part of town is really going to grow enough in population to justify a new elementary school there. At one time — about 18 months ago — it did have that potential, but Mr. Sander points out that since that time, the Office Research zone has been drawn into the area, reducing the amount of land available for houses.

"In other words," Mr. Sander says, "we want to know whether the school board has exhausted all other land possibilities in that section and just what their population statistics are."

Planning Board member T. Burnett Fisher, whose wife owns one of the three parcels, has not sat in on any of the discussions, Mr. Sander said.

DEVELOPMENT APPROVED But Action Threatened. The four-acre development Hunt and Augustine want to build on a narrow strip of land off the Princeton-Kingston Road was approved Monday night by the Township Planning Board. A zoning variance is now required on a minor matter.

But Edward McCall, who owns one of the two houses at the end of the White Pine Lane cul-de-sac, told the board he would appeal the approval to Township Committee.

The road that will service the new development comes in from the highway and runs along the west side of Mr. McCall's land. The Planning Board isn't very happy about that road, either, and would have preferred to break through the White Pine Lane cul-de-sac so residents could enter that way, and not from the highway.

However, Mr. McCall and the other White Pine owner, L. J. Hackenberg, refuse to give the necessary easements. Asked by board member William Sulpho whether he wouldn't prefer the White Pine break through to that long road on the west, Mr. McCall said no, because making the present curving cul-de-sac into a straight road would automatically place his house farther back from the road than it now is.

Site plans for the University's new rowing tank, the Hun School playing fields, a new PDS parking lot and the addition to a doctors' office building, were passed. Site plan only for the rowing tank was approved; the University still has to pass the state's Water Policy hearing.

Public hearing for Timothy Sheehan's proposed cluster development had to be postponed until July because the legal newspaper announcement was faulty.

TWO YOUTHS CHARGED With Heroin Possession. Two 18-year-old Borough youths have been charged by the police with possession of heroin and trespassing.

Larry Spruill, 37 Green Street, and Vincent Boone, 116 Leigh Avenue, were arrested at 1:30 Sunday morning by P.D. Timothy Huizing and P.D. Victor Fasanella, as they allegedly attempted to enter a window of Pyne Hall on the Princeton University campus. At a preliminary hearing Monday in Borough Court, each was released on $1500 bail to await action by a Mercer County grand jury.

A 15-year-old Princeton juvenile who was with the two youths will be charged with Rainfall, true enough, has been a bit above average this spring, but surprisingly, temperatures have been a shade above normal, too, despite the early morning chill of recent weeks.

Police said Hypodermic needles and narcotics paraphernalia were also in the possession of the two youths. Chief Peter J. McCrohan described the quantity of heroin in their possession as "a small amount."

Police said bail for one of the youths was paid by Trinity Church; for the other by attorney George Pelletieri.

THEFT REPORT

Canoe, Recorder, Hubcaps. Another week and another list of thefts in the Borough and Township, ranging from hubcaps to a canoe.

In the Township, someone unscrewed the bow hook of a $200 canoe chained to a tree in the rear of Hibben Apartments and went for a ride. The canoe, owned by Francis Moon, was found two days later on Sunday under the Washington Road Bridge.

University Police reported on Monday the theft of a $550 tape recorder from the Tower Club, and Mrs. Herman Cohen, 549 Jefferson Road, told police someone stole all four hubcaps from her car in the Park Place lot last week while she was attending a movie. She valued them at $75.

During the weekend, someone entered Suite B of the Medical Arts Building on Witherspoon Street and stole $33.43 from a cash drawer in a desk. Police said the suite was ransacked but all that was taken was the money. A secretary, Jeanette Johnson, notified the police.

A Buffalo resident, Peter W. McCormick, had $160 in clothing stolen between 7 Saturday night and 9 Sunday morning from the trunk of his car parked behind Duil Lodge on Prospect Avenue.

Police said the thief, after forcing open a front window, used an extra set of keys he found in a pocket of a coat on the rear seat to unlock the trunk.

The organizations represented here are YES, the Youth Employment Service, which gave $3,600 in scholarships to eight students, and the Princeton Regional Education Association — the teachers' organization — which gave $1,200 to four students. Left to right: George Petrillo of the PHS Guidance Department, Bill Garriga, who received a PREA award; Ugo Rossi, who received a YES scholarship; Henry Robbin, a PREA winner, and Vicki Jones, who received both a PREA and a YES.

ALUMNI ROOMS ENTERED
In 1915 Hall. While visiting alumni were sleeping, a thief entered several rooms in 1915 Hall during the weekend. Chief Peter J. McGrohan reported that drawers, desks and lockers in rooms on both floors had been rifled.

Police received reports from three alumni. Fred T. Fruit of Sharon, Pa. reported losing a $100 wristwatch and a black wallet containing $100. Raymond Most of Orient, N. Y. also lost a wallet containing $100, while Donald Leas of Philadelphia said his wallet, containing $30, was stolen.

Grotto Entered. A window pane in the kitchen located at the rear of The Grotto was broken during the weekend to gain entry into the restaurant at 18 Witherspoon Street.

Once inside, the intruder tried to force open the cash register, but police said he was unsuccessful. Nothing was taken. Detective Arthur Gallant and Sgt. John J. Bellow are investigating.

There was an entry into the Princeton Nursing Home at 35 Quarry Street early Tuesday morning, but police believe he was frightened off by their arrival. They were called to the scene by a passerby at 2:35 a.m.

Police said a pane of glass in a door on the west side of the building had been broken. A prying tool was used to force the latch.

Sgt. Theodore Lewis and Ptl. Thomas Michaud checked the building, and reported doors to all the offices were secure.

Township police report an attempted entry into the Dairy Queen in the Princeton Shopping Center. A small window in the front used to serve customers had been broken and forced in but there was no actual entry, police said.

Mrs. Donald Hawk, the owner, told police that her daughter had closed the shop at 11 Thursday night, adding that some juveniles had given her a "rough time" during the evening. Police said they believe the perpetrator was scared off.

FIRST NEGRO NAMED
To Princeton Board of Trustees. Brent L. Henry, a 21-year-old Princeton senior from Florence, will be the first Negro in history to serve on Princeton University's board of trustees. Elected by a vote of the two upper classes and the two most recently graduated alumni classes, Mr. Henry will begin a four-year term on July 1.

Mr. Henry's election is the result of moves taken by the trustees at their April meeting aimed at bringing the voice of the "on-campus generation" in to their midst. Coupled with a second special election also held this year, which added a member of the class of 1968 to the board, the annual election of a graduating senior will place four men of approximately college age on the board by 1972. The elimination of the requirement that regular alumni trustees must be at least 10 years "out" of Princeton may also serve to lower the median age of the board, which is about 60 at present.

Richard W. Cass '68, 22-year old native of Washington, D.C., currently at Yale Law School, won the special election in which this year's seniors and the three most recently alumni classes were eligible to vote.

A member of the Association of Black Collegians, and a participant in the takeover of the New South Administration building March 11, in protest against the University's investments in companies doing business in South Africa, Mr. Henry majored in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

He co-directs the Harlem-in-Princeton project, a program by which ghetto children are brought to the campus for visits and discussion with students and faculty. He plans to attend Yale Law School next year.

CRASH KILLS WOMAN
On U.S. 1, A Cranbury woman waiting for a red light to change on U.S. 1 Monday afternoon was killed when her car was hit by a truck.

The victim was Mrs. Alice E. Cottrell, 62, of 5 Bunker Hill Road, Cranbury. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Helene Fuld Hospital, Trenton, at 1:15 p.m.

The crash occurred in the southbound lane, opposite the State Motor Vehicle Inspection Station. Police said that the truck rammed into the rear of Mrs. Cottrell's car, driving it 100 feet from the point of impact.

It struck a flood-light pole in front of a service station, and the truck careening past it, ripped it open. Gasoline believed to have leaked from Mrs. Cottrell's car then set the eight tires on the rear of the tractor-trailer ablaze. Volunteer fireman extinguished it, but not before flames had burned through the side of the truck.

Mrs. Cottrell's car did not catch fire. The truck driver, Stanford R. Gindlesperger, 36, of Hightstown, Pa., was treated at Helene Fuld Hospital for a minor leg injury. He was charged with causing death by automobile.

Mrs. Cottrell was the widow of Elmer Cottrell, who died last year. He had formerly operated a market on Main Street in Cranbury.

Mrs. Cottrell is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Henry B. Per-rine of 28 Evans Drive, Cranbury, and four grandchildren. Her funeral was held Wednesday in Jamesburg, with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery, Hightstown.

TWO CARS COLLIDE
Near PDS Entrance. Four persons were injured, none seriously, in a two-car collision Friday afternoon on the Great Road, near the entrance to Princeton Day School.

Township police said a car driven by Elaine D. Mills, 35, of Trenton, had stopped in a construction area because passage was too narrow for two cars. Her car was rammed from behind by a second car operated by Lucy C. Perone, 17, 191 Jefferson Road. Miss Perone was ticketed by Lt. Fred Porter for careless driving.

Mrs. Mills received contusions and a strain of her lower back. A passenger, Anna Mae Bush, 39, of Trenton, also complained of back pains.

Two sisters riding in the Perone car were injured. Rebecca Pack, 18, of Cherry Hill Road, sustained lacerations of the mouth and chipped teeth. Deborah Pack, 16, suffered bruises and abrasions.

A Titusville youth, Steven Niederer, 13, of Church Road, was admitted to Mercer Hospital in Trenton in fair condition Saturday night, following a crash at 9:05 on Route 29.

The driver of the convertible was killed. State Police from the Hopewell Barracks identified him as Charles A. Kochar, 29, of Jersey City. He had taken Steven's sister, Shirley, 18, to a prom the night before. He was a junior at Rutgers University.

State police said the car in which the two boys were riding ran off a straight stretch of Route 29 and struck a tree. The accident took place about a mile north of Titusville.

NINE ARE FINED
In Traffic Court. Nine Princeton area motorists were fined Monday in Borough traffic court by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Kenneth V. Conover Jr., 18, Bridge Point Road, Belle Mead, paid two fines — $30 for careless driving and $15 for driving on a sidewalk. For loaning his driver's license, Marvin W. Durland Jr., 18, Princeton Road, Plainsboro, was fined $30 and had his license revoked for 10 days. Both youths pleaded not guilty.

Helen Wilson, 48, Grovers Mill Road, Plainsboro, and William F. Bennett, 17, 434 Princeton Road, Plainsboro, were fined $22 and $17 for speeding. Paying fines of $15 each were Paul D. Exposito, 19, 9 Harris Road, no muffler; Michael M. Thompson, 21, RD 4, careless driving; Paul R. Magosi, 24, 218 Eisenhower Street, no helmet while riding a motorcycle; and Philip C. Bobbitt, 22, 1901

MEET DR. HADDEN

Of West Windsor-Plainsboro. A new man in a new school system—that's John F. Hadden, new superintendent of the new West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional School District. He's a pleasant, open-faced man who loves the outdoors and who is looking forward eagerly to developing the new regional high school that is taking shape in the minds of the new district's school board members.

West Windsor-Plainsboro youngsters will be moving into that new high school—well, not in 1972, Dr. Hadden estimates.

But as a newcomer, he's feeling his way about specifics. He met the press last week on the afternoon of his first real visiting day in his new region. In a three-day period, he visited Maurice Hawk, Dutch Neck and Plainsboro Schools. He also went to Princeton High School, where he has about 400 young constituents.

"I visited Princeton High, because I want to see what our kids have been doing, so we can make a smoother transition," he said.

He talked with the teachers in the new district, and planned to meet in closed session with school board members and architect on sites for the new high school.

Dr. Hadden will move to the area as soon as he can find a house, and will begin his job July 1. He has been acting district principal of the Byram-Bergen Central School District near Rochester, New York. This month, he will receive his doctorate in education from the State University of New York in Buffalo. His bachelor's and master's degrees, come from Fredonia State College in New York.

John F. Hadden

I Believe . . . "The chance to develop a new secondary school is what led me to West Windsor and Plainsboro," he said.

"So far as educational philosophy is concerned, I believe we must work out programs that develop the individual child, and I'm keenly interested in individualized kinds of instruction."

"The time is coming to examine all kinds of materials as they relate to kids and their individual learning speeds. We need a change from the lock-step kind of scheduling, for example. It behooves us to look at everything that's available today and see what combinations can best provide for the kids in our district."

"Educators must develop an open attitude toward people who have different values or different skin color," he continued. "Prejudice isn't in-born—we want a higher degree of tolerance in teachers, which perhaps can be transmitted to our kids."

The new regional district has about 1,200 children, kindergarten through eighth grade and about 400, ninth through 12th grade.

Dr. and Mrs. Hadden and their three sons (6, 8 and 10 years old) do a lot of canoeing, and Dr. Hadden enjoys hunting and fishing. "I'm an avid outdoors man," he smiles. "I look forward to golf," he said in answer to a question, "but I've only held a club in my hand three or four times."

Dr. Hadden's predecessor, Frank J. Walton, has already been working with George DeCaussemacker, administrative principal at Plainsboro, on melding the two old districts into a single new one and Dr. Hadden is eager to continue the job.

PARENTS RE-ORGANIZE

In West Windsor. In view of the regionalization of the West Windsor and Plainsboro school districts, the West Windsor Township Education Association has been re-organized and is now known as the West Windsor-Plainsboro Education Association. Mrs. Georgia L. Johnson is president.

Also elected to office are: Robert Leigh, vice president; Mrs. Katherine Gross, secretary; Mrs. Violet Romeril, recording secretary, and Mrs. Florence Deems, treasurer.

Brother, Meet Sister

When Mark B. Peterson of 475 Riverside Drive accepted his diploma at Princeton University's commencement exercises Tuesday, his sister, Laura, was in the audience watching closely. . . and well she might: Laura herself will receive a Princeton diploma in 1971.

Mr. Peterson, at 19, is one of the youngest men ever to graduate from Princeton and quite probably the youngest in his class. Laura, who is 17, is transferring to Princeton next fall from Stanford as a member of the junior class, so she will be 19, too when she graduates.

Like her brother, Miss Peterson will be a student in the Woodrow Wilson School. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Peterson.

Little Foxes, You're Safe

Those Institute for Advanced Study foxes have been pardoned.
Last week, Minot C. Morgan Jr., who manages life at the Institute, announced that foxes were getting to be just too much and were losing up bird and non-fox animal life. The traps would be out. Mr. Morgan warned darkly.

But now the foxes have been pardoned and the traps put away somewhere indefinitely. Defenders of small animals protected, for one thing, and anyway, ecologists soothed Mr. Morgan with assurance that, when the fox population gets too large, the foxes just naturally move away or die off, so don't worry.
Nature-lovers can now walk safely through the infinite woods. Watch out for foxes.

BUSINESS In Princeton

NEW CENTER DEDICATED By Western Electric, Western Electric this week dedicated a new $5,000,000 Corporate Education Center in Hopewell Township. Conceived as an "in-company college," the Center brings together major engineering and management training programs previously conducted by the company at different locations.

Up to 300 employee students can be accommodated at one time at the new Center, located off Carter Road. It has complete residential facilities, in addition to classrooms and laboratories, and will also be used for company conferences.

Tuesday's dedication ceremony, attended by New Jersey business, educational, civic and political leaders, was carried by closed-circuit television to major Western Electric locations across the nation. The Mr. Gorman said, symbolizes event was a highlight of Western Electric's innovative spirit — past, present and future. The Center itself, he added the manufacturing and supply end, is "a clear affirmation of the Bell System, was our confidence in New Jersey's future, founded in 1869 in Cleveland, dynamic future," and visible Ohio.

On 190-Acre Site. Located in a rural, campus-like setting, the center is about five miles west of Princeton and about one-third of a mile north of the Western Electric Engineering Research Center on Carter Road. The Hopewell-Princeton area was chosen as the site for the center, Mr. Gorman said, because of its proximity to numerous cultural and educational institutions and to various Bell System scientific research facilities, such as Bell Telephone Laboratories and the company's Engineering Research Center.

The 190-acre campus features two light gray brick structures, the Education Building and the Residence Hall, about a quarter mile apart. Both are designed for compatibility with the surrounding rural and residential area, and were constructed to blend with the existing topography.

The Education Building, east of Carter Road, is a low-sloped, multi-story building of contemporary architectural design containing 80,000 square feet of floor space. It has three functional areas: a laboratory-library complex; three classroom wings, containing a total of 23 rooms; and an administrative area. There is also a sizable auditorium that will seat 320 people.

Several of the classrooms contain rear-screen projection equipment concealed by sliding chalkboards. Small conference rooms also are available for group projects and team training. Located to the west of Carter Road is the Residence Hall where students will live for periods of from one to 22 weeks.

This multi-wing, contemporary structure contains 178,000 square feet and has some 300 guest rooms with private study facilities. Its central building contains a spacious, glass-walled dining room, a lobby and reception area, a lounge and clubroom, private conference and dining areas and a hotel-sized kitchen. Recreation facilities are contained on the lower level.

TOURN TOPIKS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

ZINDER'S NAMED OUTLET For Creative Playthings.

Formerly offered in this area on a through catalog, Creative Playthings toys are now available in Princeton at Zinder's, 102 Nassau Street.

The response has been tremendous. Much, much better than I expected," said Mr. Zinder. "The toys are just beautiful and so well made. I've found people don't mind spending a little more if they buy a Creative Playthings toy."

At Zinder's, there are transportation toys, block sets, doll houses, painting gear, an indoor gym house and many other items with which children can experiment. The house-keeping equipment is constructed to a child's size so that young people can act out the things they see happening in an adult world.

A hallmark of a Creative Plaything toy is its sturdiness. It won't fall apart after an hour's play. The toys are designed so that while the child thinks he is just playing, he is really discovering things about the world around him.

News Of The CHURCHES

"THE HUMAN NATURE OF THE UNIVERSITY." The university, as a human being, is a "sufferer irreparable wounds," President Herbert F. Goheen said Sunday at the baccalaureate service in University Chapel. "It can be crippled, even destroyed, if an attack is successfully launched against its fundamental nature; to be a center for the free-ranging, uninhibited, judicious, impartial action of the mind."

Delivering the baccalaureate address before 770 seniors who were graduated Tuesday in the University's 222nd commencement, he said the lack of understanding about the "human nature" and the central purpose of the modern day university continues even at a time when the colleges are frantically new across the country.

Misunderstanding arises, he said, in part from the use of stereotypes in depicting faculty, students, alumni and trustees. "It has been my observation that if you gather 100 professors together, you have 100 individuals."

Similarly with students, he observed. "I know a good many of you and see few signs of a common stamp. . . . And the alumni — 'If anyone harbors the notion that some 40,000 Princeton alumni form a solid homogenized phalanx of nostalgic, reactionary old tigers, let him read my message for a week. The variety of views among the sons of Princeton is enormous. . . ."

Finally, President Goheen charged, "Any close association with our trustees will dispel the notion that they are a clutch of corporate tycoons. From physicians in research, to clergymen, to lawyers, to publishers, to educators, as well as to bankers and businessmen — they rarely agree unanimously as well known."

Reason And Emotion. Because universities are composed of diverse human beings, Dr. Goheen said, "they share . . . many of the attributes of the human creature. Thus, they are sites of both reason and emotion. They are complex, changeable, but also resistant to change. At their best, they are laudable."

TWO WORLDS: The Rev. Walter P. Carvin of Princeton Baptist Church, Penna Neck, has received a doctorate in theology from Princeton Theological Seminary. A graduate of Wheaton College, with a bachelor's degree in physics, his doctoral thesis was concerned with theology in relation to the history of science. He is a graduate of Eastern Baptist Seminary, Philadelphia.

At his worst, disappointing, most of the time, both of the one, such is the nature of the university — its human nature.

He pointed out that thoughtful examination and reasoned argument "must be defended in the university against all who would substitute force or mass action for them, or else the university loses its prime function."

"Much depends upon a subtle, hard-to-define set of human relationships within it — organic filaments of mutual trust and at least minimal friendliness. These are easily broken."

"When emotion gets astride of reason, when invective replaces argument, when the picnic grodes trust, when rancor slaps friendliness in the face, then the filaments may snap, and the university falls into pieces — into hostile cliques."

Much of the current unrest on the campuses, he said, has come from the unresolved problems which confront the nation and the world. "The university must expect today to be stirred from within by those who would lead it into direct forms of social actions, and, . . . expected to be buffeted from without by individuals and institutions that somehow want instant solutions from the university. It stands in danger of subverting its own nature."

"When the zeal of absolutists begins to take over, the university is in peril only by being stubbornly and courageously true to its own nature — to its prime reason for being — can the university endure as the guardian of man's highest aspiration."

SOPHISTICATED COUNTRY RENTAL

Always one of our favorite houses, this country manor, just minutes from town, combines the best of the 18th and 19th Century design. One of New Jersey's oldest historic houses (and rather still in virtue of its brick construction), it has recently undergone the process of a modern wing by one of Princeton's most sensitive contemporary architects. Inside, the old center hall opens to a big living room (study both with fireplace) and a guest bedroom and bath. In the new wing, in one great high-ceilinged, glass walled, stone floor-a space, there's room for informal living, dining, and cooking in a gourmet's delight of a kitchen. In four bedrooms and two baths, upstairs, plus a marvelous skylit studio for an artist or writer. In its own twelve-acre park with a well stocked pond for fishing and swimming. It will be available, beautifully furnished, for a year from September 1 at $600 per month.

DON'T TAX THE CHURCHES: More and more, those forced to raise revenue are casting longing eyes at tax free churches, but Douglas Hamilton (left) and John Walker both feel this would be a mistake. For their reasons, see below.

Question Of The Week

Question: In your opinion, should churches be taxed?

Where asked: Around town.

Douglas Hamilton, Trenton—hiding department. Systemic dies, 20 Nassau: No. One of the basic reasons our forefathers came to this country was for freedom of religion. Why tax the church? If one has to pay taxes for a place of worship, and that's what it amounts to, it just bugs me completely. I really think it is wrong.

John Walker, Trenton, library assistant at Firestone Library: No, I don't think they should. I feel churches and all religious institutions should be tax free. I don't have any deep reason. I just feel it is wrong. I think churches should be set aside.

Miss Barbara Healy, Lawrenceville, secretary, Princeton University: Yes. Churches take in a considerable amount of money, and taxes are supposed to be used for the people, so I think they should be taxed.

Dan Antry, Denow Road, Lawrence Township, Public Service employee: No, I can't take it to me, churches come under education and welfare and they shouldn't be taxed.

Alwood Narves, Mount Holly, carpenter: No, I happen to be a trustee of a church and I know how hard it is for them to get along on tithes and offerings. The only time I say a church should be taxed is if it has an income from a property which it is using as a business. The same is true of colleges and the Rockefeller Foundation. They're no better than anyone else. If they have income off property they own, they should be taxed.

Miss Cindy Snyder, 341 Franklin Avenue, receptionist for Karl D. Pettit & Co. No, I don't think so. It seems to me to be a personal sort of thing. You go into a store to buy anything but a church is different altogether. You're doing it because you want to, not because you have to. There is nothing at all commercial about a church.

Mrs. James McKinnon, 12 Battle Road, housewife: Yes, I think so. I just moved here from New York City and just from living there... all the welfare. Not that I don't want people on welfare but the tax burden. Churches are tax free. They represent a tremendous amount of capital in New York City. Trinity Church has $11 million worth of assets. It's just incredible. I think these institutions should be taxed to relieve the ordinary taxpayer. Absolutely! Especially the Catholic Church, which has tremendous assets. The real estate holdings of St. Patrick's is just incredible—and it's all tax free!

Joseph Psika, Griggstown, research associate for ADP: I think so. I don't think so. You can't consider a church a profit-making institution—and they have a more important and useful way of maintaining the community other than through taxes.

Marshall Rosenbluth, 284 Mercer Street, Institute for Advanced Study: Yes, I certainly think on businesses they run. Maybe not on the church itself.

but on other income deriving properties they may have.

Mrs. Paul R. Chesbrough, 170 Moore Street, housewife: No, I don't think churches should. They raise money to give to people; they don't keep it themselves.

Peter Schaffer, Graduate College, German Literature: Yes, I think they should be. If they are not taxed, then they enjoy a privilege which falls to the burden of the taxpayer. Churches possess real estate and revenue which otherwise would be taxable.

Mrs. John Petrone, 137 Valley Road, housewife: I don't think they should. Churches are supported by what their congregation believe they can give. Therefore I don't believe you can tax church members who also pay the same taxes everyone else does. I feel it would be double taxation.

Arthur Jackson, 46 Spring Street, Borough patrolman: Yes, I do. Everyone else is, why not the churches? A priest is making a living just like you and me, even if it is a religious living. What I think should happen is rather than tax the churches, the government should cut back on some of the spending it's doing.

What makes this watch so special that you'll want to keep it in the family? Is it the finest materials? Is it the hand-crafting done with uncompromising pride? Is it the limited number available? These qualities alone should be enough, but there's even more. The watch must be the kind that cannot be duplicated. Which is why we took an authentic $200 gold piece, cut it in half and placed the all Swiss movement in between. We knew we had something special, so we patented it. The price is $1,200. A small price to pay for a family heirloom.

HEALTH HINTS

Chiropractor, Princeton, N. J.

CHIROPRACTIC AND INTERNAL DISORDERS

All of us are aware that nerves are present in our arms and legs. We know that if we sever the nerve leading to the hand, moving the fingers becomes impossible and the sense of feeling is lost. Many, however, do not realize that in a similar fashion nerves supply all our internal organs controlling their functions in the same way. Nerves compose the electrical wiring system of the body.
The brain is the main center. It receives communications from all parts of the body and sends out controlling and life-giving impulses to all the tissues. It matters not whether we consider the liver or the stomach, or the hand or the foot, all are dependent on a normal supply of nerve energy. As the spinal cord descends it gives off thirty-one pairs of spinal nerves which pass between segments of the spinal column and radiate to all parts of the body — the internal as well as the external organs. By correcting displacements and removing irritation and interference from the nerves passing in between the spinal segments chiropractic adjustments are able to influence all internal organs.

COIN-OPERATED DRY CLEANING

HERE'S WHAT THE MANUFACTURERS SAY!

We've been reading the hand-tats used by major firms in the garment industry:

J. P. STEVENS & CO., INC.: "No pressing required when these slacks are cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine."

HAGGER COMPANY: "Dry clean in a coin-operated machine — no pressing needed."

BRENT: "These tailored slacks are specially treated to keep their all-over, permanently pressed shape. Front and back knife-sharp creases will last the life of the garment. Dry clean only — use coin-operated machine."

BOTANY BRANDS, INC.: This slacks can be cleaned in any coin-operated dry cleaning machine."

Coin-operated, dry cleaning is an efficient, economical method and we're pleased the garment manufacturers are helping us spread the good word.

Clothing, blankets, curtains, all emerge from our machines completely revitalized. Colors are fresh and the garments are free of wrinkles and chemical odor. "3 lbs. of drycleaning" — only $2.50

— we call this a bargain

IT'S NEW To Us

AN EYE FOR CHARM
At The Red Barn, Kay Kontura opened her shop of town and country clothes in Belle Meade 11 years ago, and if you are new to Princeton, you'll soon discover that the Red Barn is one of those "word of mouth" stores that people keep discovering.

The Red Barn is on Route 206; look for it on the left about one-half mile after you cross over the railroad bridge.

When you go inside, you'll see that the walls are the Red Barn's show windows. "People buy them off the walls half the time!" Mrs. Kontura says with interest. She keeps an extremely tasteful variety of clothes on hand, with the various ages, interests and needs of her customers well in mind. You find few dailies, which is reassuring when you walk down Nassau in your new dress.

Kay Kontura also does a lot of personal shopping for her customers, a service to keep in mind if you are having a parking problem or short on time. As soon as she discovers your tastes, she'll zero right in for you.

Looking around the shop, we were captured by a delightfully young-looking dress (on the wall, of course), that could be worn by the older girls who have kept their figures. It's a Maggi-designed peek-a-boo dress with a loose cross-hatching of spaghetti straps over your bare midriff. The bodice is cool-looking and faintly conservative in cut. The dress comes in several prints; the one that delighted us was in a watercolor mélange of blues, greens and sun yellow.

The Red Barn has cotton slacks suits (from $30) — we liked all of them and skirt-suites which blend with the blue jerseys nearby. Mrs. Kontura has a way of whipping out a skirt and holding a jersey on top of it so that you immediately see the possibilities.

For the conservative occasions you have to contend with, the Red Barn offers pant dresses, culotte dresses, really, with front and back panels that make them look like dresses. We noticed a more formal, green and white cotton brocade ensemble, lovely for an evening at the shore.

The Red Barn carries the "Jackie" dresses, which you will also find at L. Magasin. Among them is a pure linen classic, sleeveless, accented with gold buttons, which is also available in a rayon and silk fabric.

The California "luncheon" are beautifully made. The fabric is cooler and far less crushable.

"PERFECT" DIAMONDS

Last year, a columnist, Ann Landers, answered a question from a reader concerning diamonds. While well meaning in her answer, she did make a few misstatements that bear correction.

Miss Landers mentioned that diamond price is determined by weight, color and clarity. She omitted one of the most important factors of the four C's — that of cutting quality. She also quoted the American Gem Society, of which I am a member, as saying a perfect, blue-white diamond of 1 carat should sell for $1000.

For one thing, members of the American Gem Society do not say "blue-white" or "perfect" when discussing diamond quality. These two terms have been so misused that most fine jewelers do not use them. "Perfect" when applied to a diamond means that under 10 power magnification no flaws appear. It does not mean that the cutting is of the finest quality or that the color is "perfect." A diamond may properly be called "blue-white" only when a definite tinge of blue is the only color appearing in the stone when it is viewed edge up against a background of transmitted white light. This is so rare and the term has become so abused and misunderstood that again, AGS members do not use the phrase.

However, Miss Landers' closing postscript was completely accurate. She wrote: "If you don't know your gems, Lady, know your jeweler."

is really rayon-and-polyester, combination than linen. All are washable. We noticed a brown, lined dress in brown, trimmed at the cuffs, along the V-neck, down the front to the hem in a broad band of white. The shop has a number of the "California dresses," as they are called — sun styles in pure colors, right for casual living. A white pique in an interesting weave with loop trim of the same fabric, for instance, or a blue linen ensemble trimmed with white and loop buttoned down the front to the hem.

Anning the pant-dresses, a beautiful lime green with a multicolor silk tie belt. If you wear the dress alone (and if your legs are good, you should) it is a short and simple A-line. There's a very attractive Dorothy McGee design in white arnel, with bell bottom pants. The top makes a great shift. ($29.98 up)
Over on the side near the door are the sheer blouses, none too ripping with good. Nearby are probably some of the most beautiful embroidered linen dresses you have seen, and traditional shirtwaist dresses brought up to date in an extremely wearable way.

In the high bracket, is a Ciaga designed ensemble of coat and dress in dacron-and-cotton woven of pink and white in an unusual crossbar check. The dress is sleeveless; the coat white belted. ($89.)

A particularly engaging article, we thought, was the dacron crepe jump suit in an elegant print, held at the shoulders by spaghetti straps.

The Red Barn has the young girl in mind, too. We saw for the young teenager a quaint dimity print with long, full sleeves, a terrific white linen accented with silk scarf sleeves in a red and blue print, and a long sleeved yellow voile, deep cuffed, and peasant laced at the high waist. All charming.

In August, when you are scouting back-to-school clothes, the "tremendous amount of things for the teenager," that Mrs. Kontura has ordered, will be in for your perusal. Or, as we noted before, she will do your scouting for you.

Rent Golf Balls?
Princeton Chemical Research on Route 206 is so enthusiastic about its new golf ball, "PCR," that it calls it "indestructible."
The PCR is a patented one-piece ball with "an absolutely perfect center of gravity" which should mean that you'll hit them straighter and truer... even with extra yardage and delay putting. It meets USGA specifications.
Through July 5, you can rent these $15/dozen balls for 30c a month for 30 days. You pay a $10 deposit, plus sales tax and if you want to keep them, they're yours. Money back, otherwise. The deadline on the tryout is July 5.

your high-gaited youngsters have lost most of their charge at day camp and the pool, and when you turn thumbs down on television, is the time to turn to the resource pile you have accumulated at Gallery 100, Nassau Street. Some of it is good, too, for family trysts. Explore, with your children's skills in mind, such items as "Screen-a-Print," a Craftint kit that is a complete silk screen printing outfit. Youngsters — or you — can duplicate your designs for Christmas cards, party invitations, table cloths, placemats and so on. You can use it on plastic, cork, cloth, paper, glass, textiles and wood.

The kit comes with colored inks, thinner, squeegee, frame with stretched silk, film, even masking tape, brush knife and instructions.

For older children, a print-making set ($4.95); for their annoying small sisters sewing cards with easy laces of colored cords. For all ages, clay for modeling.

Lap size weaving looms (you're always short of pot holders aren't you?) are in full supply for the girls. Also Belles of the Civil War paper dolls with three or four cardboard dolls in each kit, a plentiful supply of costumes to cut out — even a wedding dress.

We saw tiger bead bean bags of felt — the tigers are all cross-eyed. And playshaps — curious, pre-cut shapes of sticky paper that can become anything a child can imagine. And boxes of poster paints, brushes, stencils, for the artistically minded.

Gallery 100 has all sorts of kits for things that you glue together instead of sew: imagine red calico flowers, or a mirror edged in calico and embroidered eyelet. For the severs, a calico crib quilt, with the patches pre-cut in generous size for small hands — and instructions.

There are kid games, small toys, linoleum blocks, crayons, all sorts of things to squirrel away in your "resource pile."

$1,500 IN AWARD MONEY
To Chamber Orchestra, The Princeton Chamber Orchestra has received an award of $1,500 from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers "for its continuing presentation of American music on tour throughout the United States in areas not usually covered by larger musical aggregations, guided by its dedicated musical director, Nicholas Harsanyi."

Gordon G. Andrews, manager of the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, accepted the award in Atlanta last Saturday at the convention of the American Symphony Orchestra League. Composer-conductor Morton Gould, executive vice president of ASCAP, made the presentation.

Mr. Andrews was elected co-chairman of the metropolitan orchestras' managers association for 1969-70, and will serve with Harold Kendrick of the Hartford Symphony. The association is composed of managers of the 66 metropolitan orchestras in the United States — including Puerto Rico and Canada.

Orchestras are classified "major," "metropolitan," "urban" or "community" depending on the financial results of their most recent concert season. "Metropolitan" orchestras, like the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, operate an annual budgets of $100,000 to $200,000.

"THEY PICKED ME."

Chosen for the Senior Company are Amanda Aldridge and Natalie Huston of Princeton; Cathy Biewener and Virginia Heppner of Pennington and Del Smith and Donna Tanguay of Hightstown.

Included in the Senior Provisional membership list are Linda Edwards of Kingston; Robin Tatum of Princeton Junction; Elaine Higgins and Sherry Kaplan of Trenton and Daniel Frohman of Princeton University.

Junior Company members from this area are Charliotta Bishop, Marina Cordis and Kip Herrick of Princeton and Rebecca Blair of Princeton Junction.

Provisional Junior Company members include Judith Hayes, Karen Kahn and Susan Tenney of Princeton; Cordis and Bryan Nyan Hurst and Jacqueline Zoladz of Trenton.

HOW TO COMMIT MARRIAGE: two great comedians, Bob Hope and Jackie Gleason, take on the roles of the fathers-in-law in the film now at the Garden and Drive-In.

News Of The Theatres

COME TRY YOUR LUCK
At "Come Blow Your Horn."
If you're interested in participating in summer theatre instead of just watching it, the Princeton Community Players are offering an opportunity.

The group is sponsoring try-outs for "Come Blow Your Horn," on Monday and Wednesday, June 18 at 8:30 p.m. in the main auditorium of the Unitarian Church, Route 206 and Cherry Hill Road. Rehearsal dates will be July 24 and 25, and August 1 and 2 in Washington Crossing State Park.

The cast for the play, one of several written by Neil Simon, includes a Jewish mother and father, their bachelor son and his younger brother, two of the bachelor brothers' girlfriends, and a third girl. Donald Evans will direct.

GARDEN AND DRIVE-IN

How To Commit Marriage. Bob Hope and Jackie Gleason, two top bananas who work extremely well together, are cast as future in-laws in a situational comedy about marriage.

It is a generally uproarious commentary on current fads and mores. Its philosophy is that one needs to be committed to marriage and a family. Although the film is rated "M," the situations are tastefully handled for general audiences.

The excellent cast includes Jane Wyman as Hope's wife, Tina Louise, Joanna Cameron and Tim Matheson. Ben Starr and Michael Kanin wrote the story and screenplay.

PLAYHOUSE, PRINCE

Goodbye, Columbus (now playing). Philip Roth's novella comes to the screen a humorous, bittersweet love story that is the latest word cinematically, but surprisingly old hat theatrically. It's unabashed "schmaltz," sparklingly acted and visually interesting. It will inspire tons of childhood memories, chuckles of recognition, and perhaps bring a tear or two.

It concerns the Typical Jew-

The Right to March Defeated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The failure of adults to have confidence in the intelligence and moral integrity of the youth is surely a major cause of the alienation of the youth from the adults today. That failure is the saddest element in the letter written to you last week by Mrs. Perone of Skillman, more disheartening even than the untruths and malicious innuendoes with which her letter is larded.

It is that failure, too, that caused Mrs. Perone to honor the young people who organized and led the anti-war parade by her insistence that they must have been led by adults with dark purposes. But the facts of the matter are quite different. For, as Mayor Patterson and Chief McCrohan can testify, it was not I who organized or led the anti-war parade. Rather, it was a group consisting mostly of high school students (including, I am proud to say, my sons) who conceived and executed the idea from beginning to end.

My wife and I and some friends joined the parade because I had become clear to us that the time was long overdue for us to bear public witness to our conviction that the war in Viet Nam is immoral, futile and unjustifiable. The only "organizing" I did was to arrange with Chief McCrohan for a ten minute interval between the two parades, an arrangement, incidentally, that the majority of the anti-war group found unjust and unwarranted, but to which they adhered nevertheless.

As Mayor Patterson will also testify, I gratefully transmitted to the anti-war group his request that they refrain from chanting anti-war slogans while the Legion speakers were finishing their program. Once again the anti-war group found this an unjustifiable demand upon them, but they nevertheless conformed to the Mayor's request.

Mrs. Perone alleges that the anti-war group "chose to stand by and shout insults to every one taking part in the service." But this is simply untrue. The only insults we heard came from a group of Princeton gentry, who paused in their midday drinking at a bar on Nassau Street long enough to exhibit their special brand of intelligence and moral insight by shouting such phrases as "the only good dead hippie" and "Other than this, there was only one other lone, outraged gentleman, from quite another stratum of Princeton society, who exhibited his maturity by dashing up to the anti-war group and observing, loudly that they were "yellow bellies," or something comparably derogatory. Mayor Patterson cooled him off quickly or at least led him away.

If patriotism implies the concern for and defense of this country's democratic commitments, then it can be said that the anti-war parade served a number of important patriotic ends. For one thing, it helped reveal how inappropriate it is to employ uniformed military pagantry to express sadness over the death of young men killed in war, and it indicated that perhaps the only meaningful way in which to honor those dead and restore honor to this country is to exert all possible efforts to end their pointless killing and destruction in Viet Nam.

The parade also established the fact that the streets of Princeton do not belong to the American Legion or to any other group, on Memorial Day or on any other holiday. The right to march and publicly testify to one's convictions belongs equally to every citizen. I am sure that Princeton authorities will not again hesitate to give official permission to parade to any group that requests it.

Finally, Mrs. Perone's repeated insinuations about hidden purposes and "undercover goals" and a "cause that rears its ugly head" testify only to her exaggerated and cliché political nervousness, as does her mysterious allegation that those of us who marched in the parade are "well known around town for what they truly represent." I hope that what we represent was some evidence, visible to the youth, that they are not alone in their anti-war sentiments. I believe that there are hundreds and perhaps thousands more adults in Princeton who share these sentiments and who would, with proper organization, join in anti-war demonstrations in the future.

The Critical Viewpoint.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

An open letter to the "par ents of Greater Princeton." Without question, you are a disgrace to the nation. Your children on Nassau Street look like animals, and act much the same.

Children only reflect their parents.

Thanks to Princeton Hospital.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

At this very moment, my Father is undergoing a very delicate operation so in writing and not knowing what the outcome is going to be, I want my feelings known no matter what.

My father had the greatest care anyone could possibly have. I personally want to give Mr. Kauffman and his entire staff my vote as running a first class operation. Every one was most courteous, most attentive and a real professional in their own right.

The nurses on the floor could not do enough for him during his three visits. The nurses in Intensive Care are the greatest and the doctors, well, they are in a class by themselves.

No one knows how lucky we are to have such gifted men at our disposal until they have gone through a family crisis. To be a doctor, you have to be truly a special breed, continually on the run for 16, 17 even 20 hours per day and maintaining your "cool" is a miracle.

My hat is off to these men because I personally have seen them in action. The tireless effort they have put forth in our behalf is repeated over and over again. Yes, sir, I believe from this moment on I for one will be an apostle of Princeton Hospital and the remarkable people who make it run.

Realistic Preparation

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a participant in the Wednesday Evening Program, I was annoyed by the charges in a recent letter. The reasoning expressed was not totally unexpected, since it is common among those attempting to rationalize a fear of social change.

I feel the Black community supports and appreciates teachers and their rights; however, we also want our children to be taught the basic learning skills. It has been documented through NUMEROUS discussions with parents, students and teachers that many Black children are being educationally "turned off" because of a variety of reasons which include teacher attitudes. The Wednesday Evening Program has made great strides in understanding the problems which exist in the schools. The desire is for a meaningful educational program for all students. As a Black, I join those who insist that our young people be prepared for the real world in which they will live and work.

Re: Sensitivity Training.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

What a contrast there was between the meetings of May 28 and June 4 of the Wednesday Evening Group! I attended them both.

The first meeting, about half white and half black attendance, and dominated by the latter, was militant in nature and prevented eight demands to the School Board. The second meeting's attendance was only about 10 percent black and was quite mild in nature.

Mr. David Harris, who has been conducting the sensitivity training, is continuing on next page.

The Princeton Bank fights superstition and ignores all old wives tales that Friday the 13th is unlucky!

We opened the new downtown Motor Bank at Chambers and Wiggins Streets on Friday, October 13, 1967.

It did not rain and people came in scores to see the mayor cut the ribbon. Oh, yes, the scissors were dull and the ribbon had to be cut with a knife. But the 1913 Mercer automobile arrived without problems.

The only time we missed Friday the 13th was in October, 1834, when the P-B began. The 13th occurred on Monday.

Now — the Princeton Bank dedicates another new facility. Naturally, the ribbon will be cut on FRIDAY, JUNE 13th. Come see the ribbon cutting at 9:00 a.m. at P-B 206.

Here is another new banking facility created for you by your ever lovin', ever growin' Princeton Bank.

You just can't imagine all the convenience P-B 206 offers until you drive in, park, and look over the spacious new office. And do it on Friday, the 13th of June — unless you're superstitious!

ART In Princeton
GIFT TO UNIVERSITY
At Princeton Art Museum.
Two of the world's most famous prints, Rembrandt's "Hundred Guilder Print" and his "Three Crosses," are among the 273 etchings and engravings presented to the Art Museum of Princeton University by David H. McAlpin, a member of the Class of 1920, and Mrs. McAlpin.
Seven of the 17 Rembrandt prints and a complete set of 16 engravings of Albrecht Dürer's "Small Passion" are also highlights of an excellent collection, a large part of which covers works by 19th and 20th century masters in the graphic arts. The gift was announced by the University in connection with the weekend and Commencement and will be on view at the Museum through June 22.

Mr. McAlpin is a member of the Clark, Dodge & Co. in New York and the chairman of the advisory councils of the Art Museum and the Department of Art and Archeology. His collection of graphics was formed under the guidance of Professor Clifton R. Hull of Princeton University and is now being given to the Art Museum in his memory.

PASSION OF AHAB
By Benton Sprance, Benton Sprance's drawings and etchings under the title of "The Passion of Ahab," will be on exhibition at the Art Museum during the month of June. The Museum will be open during the summer with the exhibition of Chinese paintings running through July 27.

STAINED GLASS EXHIBIT
At Trenton YWCA. Theresa Brady Donohue, instructor of Stained Glass in the Princeton University Creative Arts Program, is showing her work at the YWCA, 140 East Hanover Street, Trenton.
The exhibition will be open to the public during the regular YWCA hours through June 28. Mrs. Donohue, who studied at Notre Dame College of Maryland and with Jean Jacques Baudouin in New York, has recently taught in the Princeton Adult School and YWCA programs.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED
By Art Association. The Princeton Art Association held its fifth annual meeting last week at its 14 Nassau Street headquarters, naming Mrs. H. O'Connor, a former president to serve again. She succeeds Mrs. Elton Trumble.
Mrs. Creighton Burk will serve as Mrs. O'Connor's executive vice-president, while Mrs. Trumble and Mrs. J. B. Smith will be vice-presidents in charge of classes. Vice-president Dr. J. C. Blum is that and Mrs. Robert C. Sturken will arrange programs for next year's meetings.
Mrs. Lea Freund was re-elected secretary, and William Augustine will be treasurer.
Mrs. Trumble and the Honorary Mrs. Joseph Bachelder, both founders of the organization, reviewed the history of the association, which grew out of a meeting of some 10 Princetonians interested in art. The gathering was held at the Archibald Crossley home on Battle Road in January, 1941.
Mrs. Antonio Lucarelli is chairman, and Mrs. Trumble, Mrs. Bachelder, Hugh Lee Smith, Peter Lauer, Mrs. C. Stoddard, Mrs. Leon Neigard, Mrs. H. R. Hastimes, Maria Thayer and Janet Welch are members of his steering committee, the non-profit organization was formally established in May 1961, with Peter C. Cook as its first president.
From the initial group of 23 who joined the founders at the first open meeting that month, the association's active membership has grown to 420 this year. Today, the association offers one year round, four-term classes, which programs include 35 courses with 346 terms registered.

During its first year, the art exhibits at McCarter Theatre which have become a staple community service of PAA, were inaugurated. Since then monthly exhibits including open shows, the important "Prized members' shows," loan shows and young people's shows held at McCarter have been featured.
In July, 1968, the Art Association established its own head quarters at 14 Nassau Street, with two floors of studio and office space. During the following season the continuing series of art talks and demonstrations was begun, with distinguished artists and figures from the art world as guests.
Mrs. O'Connor succeeded Mr. Cook as PAA's second president for the 1968-1969 season. From 1967-1968 Mrs. George Adriance was president.
During her term of office PAA embarked upon its cooperative art workshop program for young people at the South Center. Today this work, conducted by Jan Swearing, is the oldest and most successfully functioning activity at the Center.

Ten-week class sessions during the school year, and short summer art courses, have been taught over the years by such distinguished artist teachers as Mrs. Trumble, Gregorie Fregio, pino, Margaret Kennard Johnson, David Chapin and Stefan Martin. The curriculum has been rounded out by instructors in specialized fields, and many other teachers of note. Founded "to establish and maintain an educational and cultural program of activities devoted to art, to promote knowledge and appreciation of the arts, and to bring together all persons in the Princeton area interested in art," the Association is a charter member of the Princeton Arts Council, with which it cosponsored the recent University Paint-In. SPORTS in Princeton

TENNIS TO BEGIN MONDAY
NCAA Championships Here. More than 40 colleges, represented by some 150 players, will begin competition here Monday for singles and doubles titles in the National Intercollegiate Tennis Championships. Matches will be held on the University Courts, near Baker Rink.

Southern California is expected to complete successful defense of the title it won a year ago when the event was staged at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. High calibre of play can be anticipated—a number of the entries have already had Davis Cup experience.

Southern Cal will be represented by Bob Lutz, who lost in the 1968 finals to his teammate, Stan Smith, but later in the summer, carried Arthur Ashe to five sets in the U.S. Amateur. Also in action for USC will be Joquin Loyo-Mayo, who played for the Mexican Davis Cup team when it eliminated Australia this spring.

Although colleges from most of the 50 states will come to Princeton for the tournament, the closest challenger to Southern Cal will be its closest neighbor—UCLA. Its doubles team of Roy Barth and Steve Tidball will likely be seeded No. 1, having lost last year in the finals to Lutz and Smith. The latter has graduated. Barth and a freshman from Pakistan, Haroon Rahim, give UCLA fine strength in the singles.

Other colleges which are expected to finish well up in the standings include Trinity, Rice, Utah, Miami, Michigan, Florida and Clemson. Rice was runner-up in the team scoring a year ago, earning 23 points to USC's 31.

Princeton will enter a four-man team led by Captain Win Irwin, captain-elect Bob Goeltz, Rich Howell and Scott Rogers. The Tigers tied for first place with Harvard in the Eastern Association race this spring.

Tickets priced at $4.50 for adults and $2.50 for juniors will admit spectators for the entire week's play, which begins Monday and continues for six days. Single admissions may be purchased at the gate, or in advance at Dillon Gym. On Monday, only, all juniors who are residents of Mercer County may attend without charge. Bleachers will be erected for the convenience of spectators.

R. Kenneth Fairman, Director of Athletics at Princeton, will serve as tournament chairman, while Conner is Tournament Director, assisted by William A. Summers. Clarence Chaffee of Williams College will be the referee.

Publicly will be handled by William C. Stryker, Director of Sports Information at Princeton, and Mrs. Lewis Kraft of the Princeton Community Tennis Program. Thomas Root and Carl Pope are co-chairmen of food and lodging; Thomas Southerland is chairman of umpires and Robert Sylvester is handling ticket sales.

CREW AT SYRACUSE
Tigers Optimistic. Hopful of bettering its third place finish of a year ago, Princeton's crew will row this weekend in the national regatta at Syracuse. Action will start Thursday and continue on Friday, with a double elimination basis through Saturday, with all races staged over the Olympic distance of 1,600 meters.

If Princeton wins its first race, the Tigers will not row again until Saturday when the finals will be held. Beaten shells on Thursday will have a chance again on Friday to qualify for the championship race, in which ten of the 16 crews will take part.

The favored entry in the International Rowing Association regatta is Penn, which lost only to Harvard this spring, splitting a pair of races with

TOURNAMENT DIRECTOR:
The complex, six-day NCAA Tennis Tournament to be held here next week will be directed by Princeton's veteran coach, John Conner.

The Crimson, Harvard, of course, does not enter the national regatta, holding to its century-old tradition of rowing Yale at New London. Penn took Princeton's measure twice—each time by three-quarters of a length. The optimistic Tigers have their sights set on trimming the Quakers, but off Penn's fine form throughout the season, such a result would be a distinct upset.

Three West Coast crews will be at Syracuse, the strongest of them Washington, which figures to challenge Penn along with Princeton, Wisconsin, the lone Big Ten university to treat rowing as a major sport, is also one of the stronger entries.

A year ago, Princeton compiled 14 points on the overall performance of its varsity, javayee and freshman shells, finishing second to Penn, which scored 20 in competition for the Ten Eyck Trophy. However, while the Tiger varsity is stronger this year, the jayvees and freshmen are not, so the combined performance by the Orange and Black will in all probability not be as good.

TIGER PERCENTAGE UP
Won-Lost Record Improves. For the third year in a row, the winning percentage compiled by Princeton varsity teams has improved. In the nine months ending in late May, they recorded a mark of .645, compared to the two previous years of .641 and .630. Team championships were won outright in basketball, fencing and golf, and a share of the title was earned in tennis. Individual champions from Princeton were named following intercollegiate in

What's the catch?
There isn't any.
$1799* is the suggested retail price of the port of entry for the VW sedan.
The price includes the Federal excise tax and import duty.

It also includes the built-in heater/defruster, windshield wipers, electric windows, trip meter, outside rearview mirror, padded dash, front seat headrests, and seat belts front and back.

Not to mention the new electric rear-window defogger and the new ignition/steering lock.

It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model.

What else do you have to pay?
Transportation from the port of entry. Dealer delivery charge, local sales tax.

One optional extra that makes a lot of sense, automatic stick shift. (It eliminates the clutch pedal.)

Another is leather upholstery.

And that's it.

fencing, golf and swimming.

The 'no record was compiled by the golfers (51), who took both the eastern and metro politan intercollegiate. From point of view of precedence, possibly the outstanding performance was credited to the basketball team, which became the first in Ivy history to go through a 14 game schedule undefeated. The title which the Tigers won was their seventh in the past decade.

In addition to the golfers, records well above average were compiled in tennis (11-1), cross country (8-1), fencing (10-2), swimming (10-2), squash (9-2), wrestling (16-3), crew (7-2) and baseball (14-7). The teams failing to top 500 included two which usually perform extremely well for Princeton: football (4-5) and lacrosse (5-6). Others well below the basketball point were hockey (5-18), soccer and both the 150 lb outlaws crew and football.

Harvard Hard to Beat, as is more often the case than not, Harvard provided the toughest competition for Princeton, and was the only Ivy team against which the Tigers failed to win half their contests. They dropped 14 of 19 meetings with the Crimson, winning only in basketball (twice), swimming, wrestling and golf.

These were the last record against the other Ivies: Brown, 9-3; Columbia, 15-1; Cornell, 12-5; Dartmouth, 8-4; Penn, 11-9; and Yale, 10-9.

The Class of 1972 compiled a won lost record of 653. Its top teams were in tennis, at 10-0 the only unbeaten squad of the year just ended; golf, 11-1; basketball, 13-4; wrestling, 10-2-1; and baseball, 10-4.

COACHES AWAIT ACTION
In Strike Throat, "I expect something has got to be done by next week," remarked Richard H. Wood, chairman of the Princeton High School Men's Coaches Association, which has threatened to strike next fall over dissatisfaction with the present salary system for coaches.

Wood reported that the association had received a short letter from Harvey Rothberg, chairman of the school board's Finance Committee, in which Dr. Rothberg wrote that the board could not bargain with the coaches. All negotiations, he said, would have to be through the teacher's committee.

MURRAY ON THE MOVE:
Tom Murray, former top assistant to Princeton High School football coach Dick Wood, will coach the Princeton University 150-pound football team this fall.

tee authorized to negotiate salary disputes.

Last week, coaches at Hamilton and Lawrence High Schools likewise announced they would not coach next fall unless their salaries were increased.

"We're waiting for the people who negotiate for us to make some moves," Wood said, pointing out that the delay might be the result of final examinations now in progress at the school. "We don't know if they believe we won't hold out or not," he continued. "They might be playing a game with us."

Wood stressed, however, that the 21 coaches of the association "feel positive this is the time to be tough. We're determined to stay together. It's been that way all along," he said. "Everybody is unified."

Wood went on to say at he hoped the impasse would be resolved soon. "I'd hate to wait until September when parents will get up in arms about no sports at the high school." Rather than just talk about it, he expressed the hope that parents would "make some calls and write some letters."

Wood reported that he was still proceeding as if he were going to coach in the fall. He said that he was going ahead with plans to visit the eighth grades and bring films with him in an attempt to recruit football candidates. "I still want to coach," he said.

Murray Leaves Staff. No matter what the outcome, Wood's coaching staff lost a valuable member when he announced that his top assistant and defensive coach, Tom Murray, will move over to Princeton University in the fall to coach the 150 pound football team.

"They offered him too much for him to pass it up," he said.

Wood reported that Murray will be making three times as much as he did as a PHS assistant coach, with less time ("they play only six or seven games") and a chance to "get into something more" at the University. Murray would remain as head wrestling coach at PHS.

To fill in the gap left by Murray's departure, Wood said that he hoped to talk Jerry Groninger, Murray's predecessor, into returning to coach. "That would take care of that situation," he said.

Other members of Wood's staff have also left. Larry Ivins, who coached the juniors, earlier this year announced he would not coach football. He is head basketball and track coach at PHS.

coach, now teaches in the Freehold school system. In addition, Jack Houtenville worked only half time, almost all of it as a scout.

GROVER TOP HITTER

For PHS Baseball Team, Junior outfielder Jeff Grover ended as the leading hitter by a wide margin on the Princeton High School baseball team. Jeff batted .474.

Others above .200 were third baseman Tom Graham (275), John Cushman (.273) and a second baseman John Pesce (.213). Cushman is a junior. After a protracted slump, sophomore Lujohn Rossi batted above .400 for the last six games, according to team scorer Alan Schwartzstein, who compiled these figures.

Overall, the Little Tigers hit .173 as a team. Opposing teams batted at a .230 average.

On the mound, Jeff Haring was the pitcher of record in half of his team's 16 games.

He won two, lost six and posted a 2-30 earned run average. Tim Rollings had a 2.07 ERA, in winning two of six. Tom Graham, who pitched only 11 innings but was charged with two losses against no victories, had the satisfaction of fashioning the lowest ERA, a 1.91.

In the field, the team had a respectable .320 mark, led by first baseman Dick Van Zandt, who was charged with only one error all season for a .999 average. Outfielders Steve Bambara and Joe Seider both fielded 1,000, but each had only two putouts.

The team, captained by shortstop Dave Drake, ended with a 4-12 record. It defeated Lawrenceville, Cathedral, Hinn and Trenton.

For Coach Harry Zell, it was his 13th year at the helm and he could have used a little more luck than the Blue and White received, especially in the early going.

PARKER 4th IN JAVELIN
In Group 4 Championships. In the championship meet for all Group 4 schools in the state held last week at John F. Kennedy School in Iselin, Lawrenceville, Princeton High School sophomore finished fourth in the javelin with a loss of 179-1. Teammate Paul Mazarrella, who failed to finish among the top five in the low hurdles in the slate meet Saturday, captured fifth place in the low's at JFK.

Commenting on Parker's achievement, track coach Larry Ivan said, "That's 40 feet he's added since last summer. A hundred seventy-nine feet—that's pretty good for a sophomore."

Ivan continued: "There's no question he'll reach 200 feet by the time he's a senior if he keeps on at the rate he's going." The PHS record in the javelin is an eye opening 231-1 set by Dan Tindall in 1967.

NCA WINS TWO MORE

Raises Mark to 5-0 in BSFL. NCA won two more games in the business Softball League last week, upping its record to 5-0, and unquestionably emerging as the team with the best chance of winning the western division title.

With a 14-7 triumph over Shell and a 14-11 win over Astro, the league leaders achieved the distinction of beating every one of their nearest rivals in their first meeting. RCA Astro and RCA Labs A, both with 3-2 marks, have lost to NCA, and Colanlian Cannon, in second place at 4-1, was wallowed 14-5 in its first contest with it.

In the eastern division, McGraw-Hill and Accelerator both won, to continue in a tie for first. McGraw-Hill whipped FMC, 16-11, and Accelerator beat American Cyanamid, 7-3.

Tom Wunderlich led the Accelerator attack with a single, double and triple, in three times at bat, and drove in two runs. Tony Gervasio had two hits good for two RBIs, and was robbed of another extra-base hit on a fine running catch by left fielder Specs Carter. Clark Lemmon drove in two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly. Carter drove in the other run with a sacrifice fly. Continued on next page

Carbon remained a game behind NCA with a 6-3 victory over RCA Labs A. Bob Lewis had two hits and scored twice for the winners, and Ezra Lewis hit a long home run. The loss was the second for RCA A, which won its third game earlier in the week, 8-1, over Shell. Alan Salkin and Doug Bosomworth had three hits and three RBIs, and Phil Moody had two doubles and two RBIs, for RCA.

RCA Labs B ended a four-game losing streak with a 7-6 win over ERC in a nine-inning game. Four straight hits in the final inning gave RCA its first win of the season. Vic Christiano and Gene Pulnick both had two hits for the winners.

Dow Jones also won its first game of the season with a 4-2 victory over Hopewell TV. Joe Zeno gave up just seven hits and only one earned run for the win. Bob McCallum had a triple to drive in the go-ahead runs in the top of the fourth.

An eight-run first inning highlighted a 30-run outburst by ETS, as it trampled ENR, 30-9. Gerry Murphy had three home runs for ETS. Ted Lake went four for five for the losers.

LOW GROSS OF 78 WINS

In Women's Golf, Mrs. James Whelan and Mrs. Joseph Frelinghuysen, the latter from Somerset Hills, won the member-guest tournament for women at Springdale Golf Club last week, carding a 78 to take low gross honors. A field of 66 competed.

A 62 won low net honors for Mrs. Max Morris and her guest, Mrs. Robert Lauck of Bedens Brook. Second in this division was Mrs. Morris Mayers and Mrs. Edmund Beckwith, Bedens Brook.

Others who placed near the top: Mrs. James Blair and Mrs. Robert Shaw, Bedens Brook; third, Mrs. A. D. Sheeran and Mrs. LeRoy Purvis, Bedens Brook; and Mrs. R. M. Allaire and Mrs. Quentin Lyle, Hopewell Valley, tied for fourth.

Mrs. Mayers won the closest to the pin contest. Her tee shot on the second hole was 9 feet, 9 1/2 inches away.

CLASSES START MONDAY

For Summer Tennis, The first session of the Community Tennis Program's summer tennis lessons will be held Monday. Registration may be made by obtaining a brochure from the Recreation Office at Township Hall or by calling the Director of the Program, Mrs. Lewis Kraft, Ridgeview Road, 924-7377.

Attendance may be on a weekly basis to accommodate each student's vacation plans.

Bushnell to Be Honored

Asa S. Bushnell, the long-time Princeton resident who is the first and only commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, will be honored June 24 for "outstanding service" during the years in intercollegiate athletics. The occasion will be the annual convention of the National Association of Collegiate Athletic Directors in Princeton, N.J., May 24-26.

Bushnell, a member of the Princeton Class of 1901, will receive the James J. Corbett Award. A former graduate manager of athletics at Princeton, he has been director of the ECAC and its forerunner, the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association, since 1938.

He is a past secretary of the U.S. Olympic Committee and is currently executive director of the NCAA TV football program. He was also one of the founders and first president of the Collegiate Commissioners' Association, whose members are the heads of the leading college conferences.

In addition to beginner classes for all ages, there is an extensive intermediate and advanced class for men. To take care of the many of the waiting list from previous seasons, Conroy has added an extra afternoon class this summer, as well as an evening class for men.

All boys and girls in the Gold Cup Classes should report for a preliminary meeting this Friday at 12:30 on the balcony of the pagoda at the University Courts. Plans for the discussion for the opening week of classes, since most Gold Cup members, in addition to their regular lessons, will be serving as ball boys and aides for the NCAA Championships.

A training session for ball boys will be held during the meeting. Everyone should bring a picnic lunch and come attired for play.

Leader Corps members and trainees are also required to attend the meeting. Those who have school until 12:30 should come to the courts as soon as possible. In case of rain, the ball boy training session and the Leader Corps meeting will be held at the same time inside Dillon Gym.

A Plan for Progress Company

JUNE 14th . . . Fun & Games . . . Princeton Hospital Fete

WONDERFUL . . . what a way to live - your own big, cool swimming pool, on your own two acres in the country, with fine trees and shrubs, and lawn spreading in all directions! The house is charming - a foyer, large living room, dining area, kitchen with many built-in features, and 3 bedrooms, 2 baths. Not such a large house, to be sure, but the whole property is designed to be a place where you, and your friends, can enjoy life. (*) $45,000

PRECIOUS . . . this is a darling of a house - exactly suited to a romantic couple, or to be the wedding present to a young bride (and groom). Almost hidden behind its trees and hedges, as you drive by you get a glimpse of bricks and a rugged cedar shake roof that tells its story of quality and charm. On Province Line Road, near Beden's Brook, the neighborhood is one of the best in Princeton's area. The house has living room, dining room, den with beamed ceiling, many windows with slate floor, kitchen, and (upstairs) 4 bedrooms and 1 bath (*) $49,500

ONLY 10 MINUTES from Princeton, on one-and-a-half beautifully landscaped acres, this long, low, spacious house was designed to make living in the country a real pleasure. It's a treat just to gaze at the wide, spreading lawn, and to watch the garden blossom. Indoors, the living and dining rooms are large & airy, and any housewife will envy the owner of this marvelous kitchen, with a place for everything and lots of room for family breakfasts and lunches. 3 big bedrooms, 2 full baths, a study for 4th bedroom and 2 powder rooms. These are the quick facts, but only a visit will enable you to appreciate how close this comes to being your dream house. (*) $68,900

TRULY RURAL . . . not far from the Delaware River, hidden in a cluster of great old shade trees right in the middle of a large working farm, this 200-year-old fieldstone farm house is already restored and modernized, and ready to move into. 4.9 acres of land, with fruit trees, a pool! The house has a spacious foyer, with a charming powder room to the left. To the right, a large living room with fireplace. The paneled library, too, has a fireplace. There is a very big dining room, and a large modern kitchen with ample built-in space and a huge kitchen with a built-in grill where you can actually broil steaks. Second floor: 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Third floor: 2 bedrooms, 1 bath. 3-car garage. Outdoors nice shrubbery and a big swimming pool (*) $76,500

FOR MODERN LIVING . . . central air-conditioning, of course, for comfort: a huge living room in a wing by itself, so that it's a place to live in, not a passageway; master bedroom study and bath (for privacy) on the far side of the house, away from the children and their TV; a huge kitchen with gleaming and modern that every housewife will yearn for it. Separate dining room with fireplace. A spacious family room with powder room, and 3 more bedrooms and bath. For a family with 3 children, here is a place that has everything (*) $75,000

SMALL ESTATE . . . just outside the Township (mailing address, however, is Princeton, R.D.) here is what so many want, but which we can so rarely offer - a century-old farm house which has already been modernized & renovated to the point of perfection. A charming entry hall, living room with fireplace, dining room with fireplace, a beautiful dining kitchen (many rooms have the wide old pine floor boards, now polished and gleaming), study and powder room occupy the first floor. Second floor, master bedroom, with fireplace, 3 other bedrooms, 2 baths. Third floor, sitting room and more sleeping space. 2 1/2 acres of garden and lofty shade trees. Large swimming pool and pool house. Big barn. Large shed for garaging 4 cars. Plus a tiny, charming cottage now occupied by a young couple who manage to enjoy living in the country by working on the property and helping in the house. $97,500

LIVE IN YOUR OWN PARK . . . flowering shrubs, towering trees, smooth lawn - all these provide a setting for one of the finest homes we have ever had the pleasure of offering. And all summer long, your family your guests will enjoy the big swimming pool, which is far enough away from the house so that the decibels of childish chatter get lost in the great outdoors. The dwelling itself has a room on the ground level for the swimmers and a shower - plus a large paneled family room with 3 working fireplaces, foyer, living room with fireplace, separate dining room with doors leading to a beautiful flagstone terrace, modern kitchen with cabin facilities and a large screened porch which can be glass-enclosed and built in the winter. 5 bedrooms and 4 1/2 baths, plus a master 6th bedroom and bath. Ample storage attic. Bug closets. Let us show you this lovely home in Edgewater . . . soon! (*) $97,500

MAGNIFICENT . . . On its own 5 acres, in a fine Princeton location, this great house stands like a mansion - "way back from the street. Lofly shade trees and beautiful gardens surround it. Made of stone, 18 inches thick, with high ceilings and tall windows, it stays cool and elegant all through the Summer. Huge living room, with fireplace; banquet hall ("dining room" is inadequate) with fireplace; butler's pantry with cupboards for 30 place settings of your finest porcelain, fine big kitchen and powder room. Upstairs: 5 master bedrooms, 3 maid's rooms, 4 baths.
This old house is in beautiful condition, ready for a new owner to move right in. There is a lovely terrace for outdoor living, a large playground for a children's playground, and plenty of privacy behind tall hedges. (*) $169,500

STUART HILL . . . Fabulous 2-acre building sites in the most desirable part of Princeton. This neighborhood appeals to people who dream of living in castles among lofty trees. All utilities installed.

(*) Many more fine homes in Princeton & vicinity in a wide price range.
Ample parking space for our clients.
